Power and Water and the Department of Primary Industry, Fisheries and Mines are promoting horticulture and the use of recycled water in Alice Springs.

Recycled water has been used to grow the 45 hectare Alice Springs tree farm since the early 1980s. Investigations are now underway into the viability of commercial ventures in grape, citrus fruit and melon crops in the Alice Springs area.

It is estimated that $20 million per year could be added to the Alice Springs economy by having a horticultural industry in the area.
